VICTIM OF BAY SAID TO BE A FOREMAN

The body found floating in the bay near Ellis Land Company's property yesterday morning was identified yesterday as that of Fred Anderson, a foreman. Anderson has been employed as foreman by the Hutchinson Contracting company and also by Moffett and Mead, contractors. The body was found by J. D. Humphreys and S. R. Hogan of 421 Bissell avenue.

It had evidently been in the water but a few hours, as decomposition had not yet set in. There was nothing on the body to indicate that foul play had been the cause.

As no written explanation was found on the body it is believed that the man fell into the bay by an accident and was unable to get any response to his cries for aid.

The man was well dressed and had a small amount of money on his person, scuttling the theory of foul play. The coroners office is investigating the affair, but is of the opinion that death was due to an accident. Up until a late hour last night, the relatives of the drowned man had not been located.

The remains are at the Smallwood Undertaking Parlor. An inquest will be held early next week.

RECEIVES NEWS OF THE DEATH OF WIFE'S FATHER

William A. Lucas, the realty broker, received word yesterday from his wife who has been at Burlingame, Kansas for the past month that her father, J. M. Braddon, a prominent resident of the Sunflower state had passed away following a stroke of paralysis several weeks ago.

EX-CONVICTS TAKEN IN POLICE DRAGNET; WILL ARREST ALL SUSPECTS

To prevent this city from becoming the "mecca" of yeggmen and thugs, Chief of Police Charles Walker yesterday afternoon issued instructions that anyone unable to give a coherent explanation of his presence in the city after dark should be taken into custody. Four men were arrested yesterday on a vagrancy charge. Two were found to be ex-convicts having served terms in San Quentin prison. They are William Sherman and John O'Brien.

They are being held pending an investigation. "The season of the year has arrived," said a member of the force yesterday "when these characters begin to return to the city. In order to protect Richmond and keep crime at a minimum, it is necessary for drastic measures to be taken. Instructions have been given to the members of the department to arrest every one unable to give a coherent explanation of his presence in the city."

DANCE OF ELKS TONIGHT IS GREAT SOCIAL EVENT

This evening the much heralded and much anticipated Halloween ball of the Richmond Lodge of Elks will be held at East Shore Park. Several hundred invitations have been issued and it is expected that the largest crowd ever in attendance at East Shore Park will be present. Neither time nor expense has been spared to make the affair one long to be remembered in the city's social note book.

Music will be furnished by the orchestra of the Hotel Oakland. Many visitors from Oakland, San Francisco and other bay cities will be present. The large dance pavilion has been converted into a veritable ghost land, by Halloween decorations. Able and active committees have been working day and night to make the affair a big success.

NO CEREMONY PLANNED FOR STATION OPENING

No ceremony will attend the formal opening of the new $14,000 Southern Pacific depot at Sixteenth street and Macdonald avenue, Monday. Station agent H. A. Stiver will march into the office Monday morning, hang his hat and coat up in a new hook, seat himself in a new chair and removing his books from a new desk will begin to delve into some old statistics. So it will be with the other employees of the place. Perhaps, Stiver will pass around the cigars as a sort of extra number on the program. Then someone will shout "here comes the five fifteen" and the regular routine of work will continue.

The new station is one of the most modern on the coast. The company plans to plant a number of flowers and shrubbery around the building.

WOULD TURN SENTIMENT AGAINST LABOR

Anything to turn public sentiment against Schmidt and Caplan, the two labor leaders under arrest in Los Angeles on a charge of dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building appears to be the motto of the prosecutors of the two men. The following despatch from San Francisco indicates the effect being made to turn public opinion against the two men:

Charging that the papers containing valuable evidence to be used in the prosecution of Schmidt and Caplan, alleged dynamiters of the Los Angeles Times building, had been stolen from his room here in San Francisco today, Charles Graves, a special detective employed by the district attorney of Los Angeles, just as the latter was about to depart from Meigs' wharf on a lumber schooner for Los Angeles.

Graves has been quietly working in San Francisco for some time, securing evidence to be used by the Los Angeles district attorney. This afternoon he found that his room had been rifled and many important papers stolen.

Graves appealed to Assistant District Attorney James Brennan and Louis Ferrarri and asked that Detective Smith be detained and searched. Smith was found at Meigs' wharf waiting for a launch to convey him to the lumber schooner, which will leave for Los Angeles tonight.

His trunk was on the wharf and was thoroughly ransacked by the district attorneys and Graves, but no evidence of the missing papers were found.

Graves urged that Smith be held, but Brennan and Ferrarri felt there were no legal grounds for the man's detention and turned him loose.

HIGH TEAMS TO CLASH FOR SUPREMACY

The Richmond and Centerville High school rugby fifteens will line up in the deciding football match for the supremacy of the Central Alameda County Athletic league championship this afternoon. The game will be played on the field directly opposite the high school at 23rd street and Macdonald avenue. An admission of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children will be charged.

The local team is in good trim and a great game of rugby should be dished up. Both clubs are evenly matched, and it is toss up who will bring home the victory.

Nathan C. Coghlan and Edwin V. McKenzie of San Francisco who defended Norman H. Atkinson in the trial of the defense of the trial of A. Schmidt in Los Angeles. Their selection was made necessary by the death of Charles H. Fairall, who was stricken suddenly in the midst of the gallant fight he was making for his client's liberty.

But they have a hard fight before them as can be shown by the sort of jury men they will be forced to go to trial before, as shown by the following manner of their selection. Two cases are quoted, showing how a Los Angeles jury is selected in a labor trial.

Juror Charles Hughes, A RETIRED CAPITALIST, being examined testified in part as follows:

Question. And the defendant would have, if he wanted to establish in your mind it was gas, he would have to prove it to you?

Answer. I think he would, yes, sir.

Question. And do you start in the trial, with the firm positive conviction that this building was destroyed by dynamite with intent to take human life?

Answer. Yes, sir.

Question. Yes, and if the defendant wanted to establish to your satisfaction that it was done with gas accidentally, he would have to introduce some proof, wouldn't he?

Answer. If that is a necessary element in the case, he would have to do that.

Question. Then if the district attorney, in the presentation of his case against the defendant, did not remove from your mind the belief, which is now there, that it was done by means of dynamite, you would not require any proof on the question from The People would you?

Answer. I would be inclined to believe that the building was destroyed by dynamite.

Question. Now, you understand that is the position of the district attorney?

Answer. Yes, sir.

Question. And upon that point you would not require any proof from the district attorney, would you?

Answer. No.

Question. Then you go into the trial of this case with your mind made up upon every question except that?

Answer. Yes, sir.

Question. Well, you say you would give him a fair trial. That statement is also coupled with the mental reservation that you have this opinion which would affect your judgment?

Answer. To a certain extent, yes, sir.

Question. You wouldn't be satisfied would you Mr. Hughes take that as a fact, that the Times Building was destroyed by dynamite, from what you read in the newspapers in regard to the guilt or innocence of this defendant.

Answer. Well connecting the defendant with it, if the prosecution did that, I should take that part of it as settled.

The above juror, a retired capitalist, was challenged by the defense for having a fixed opinion. The court denied the challenge.

Juror John A. Horton, A day laborer, being examined, testified as follows:

Question. Have you ever formed any opinion as to the cause of the disaster?

Answer. Well, what I know about it and what I heard about it I thought at the time it was caused by gas explosion.

Question. That is the way your mind is now?

Answer. That is the way I had it.

Question. You think the source of your information on that convinces you that it was gas.

Answer. I thought so all the time, and I always contended that that was what it was.

Question. All you have read and heard confirms you in that view?

Answer. Yes, sir.

Question. You still believe it?

Answer. I still believe it to a certain extent. I couldn't believe anything else.

Mr. Keyes—What is that answer? (Answer read)

Mr. Harriman—You think that opinion is so firmly fixed in your mind that you would be unable to set it aside?

Answer. Well it would have to be proven otherwise.

Question. From what you have known— from what you have heard—before you came to this court room, what you have read in the papers, you say you feel that your opinion that the building was blown up by gas, is so firmly fixed that it would require evidence to dislodge that opinion?

Answer. Yes, sir.

Question. So you feel now that this defendant is innocent?

Answer. Yes, sir.

Question. And could not possibly be guilty of that offense until the opinion in your mind that it was blown up by gas, is dislodged and another established?

Answer Yes, sir.

Question. They would have to prove his guilt here beyond a reasonable doubt?

Answer Yes, sir.

Question. By establishing the fact that that building was blown up by dynamite, and that he had something to do with it, be-

AT THE RICHMOND

Charolette Walker, the celebrated actress will be seen at the Richmond tonight in the Jesse L. Lasky drama, "Out of Darkness." Miss Walker will be well remembered here for her artistic performance in the photo-drama of the slums, "Kindling."

In "Out of Darkness" however Miss Walker is seen as a young society woman and has a opportunity to display many of her newest gowns. As the young society woman, Helen Scott, she has been left the entire ownership of the large Scott canneries, but being now more interested in society she leaves the business affairs entirely in the hands of her hard-fisted uncle.

One of the thrilling scenes of this play occurs when Miss Walker and Tom Forman in a racing sloop are run down and sunk by a huge freighter. To secure this scene a trans-Pacific steamer had to be chartered and a racing sloop purchased and sunk. Miss Walker is hurled into the water fully dressed and it was with difficulty that she was kept from being drawn under the steamer as it swept past.

For the scenes of the burning cannery factory an entire plant was bought by the Lasky company, sprinkled with oil and set on fire. Both Miss Walker and Thomas Melghan, her leading man, were badly burned during the taking of the scenes. They managed to get clear of the burning building just before the roof fell in. All of this is seen in the picture.

Miss Walker is supported by a cast of unusual excellence. Among the prominent artists being Thomas Melghan, Margery Daw, H. B. Carpenter, Tom Forman, Loyla O'Connor and other members of the Lasky all-star stock company, directed by George H. Melford.

JUDGE HALL DELVING INTO BASEBALL LOGY

City Attorney D. J. Hall is burning the midnight oil. He is perusing the encyclopedia of baseball knowledge with diligence and care. "I am laboring in the labyrinth of a forgotten language," said Hall last night. "It has been many years since I biffed a horsehide on the bean; morgued a liner and galloped around the circuit, but I am slowly securing the necessary adjectives and data and I hope to present a very elucidating and intelligent speech."

The contest and celebration promise to draw the largest crowd of the season. Bill and Charles, will officiate as rival moundmen. Bill will dish 'em up for the Oakland Coasters and Charles will act in a similar capacity for the Elks.

O. L. Dietrich, chairman of the parade committee announced yesterday that a large number of automobile owners had stated their intention of placing their machines in the parade. Tilden & Eekle are fixing the flag pole on which the pennant will be raised.

The game should be one of the best of the season. The Oaks are doing good and the Oakland fans would not relish a defeat at the hands of the local boys. So it is up to the Coasters to make good. Richmond has all to gain and nothing to lose and from the manner in which the members of the club are gossiping it looks like the local club would ramble home with the bacon.

Quite a large delegation of Oakland rooters will be out for the game. The parade will leave Tenth street and Macdonald avenue promptly at 1:30 o'clock and all auto owners are asked to be on the job at that time. Get in the parade and make this the biggest celebration Richmond has ever had. There are several more games this season and each is an important one. But sure be on the job Sunday no matter whether you get in to the parade. At the ball park, Willie Luce Mayor Garrard and City Attorney Hall will conduct the services assisted by every fan and fanette in the city.

Bill still refuses to make a speech but the fans and bugettes should insist that at least come forward and say "Ladies and Gentlemen, I thank you for this great honor." and the Bill can doff his lid and return back to the bench. But for goodness sake insist that he comes forth and let the citizens see what the handsome manager looks like when about to make a speech. Remember he has never made a public speech in his young life.

And when Bill reads these few words, probably a certain local citizen will be unable to any longer inflit upon along suffering public his tale of woe. But the satisfaction of seeing Bill make a speech will recompense us for all the physical misery which we may perhaps suffer.

CUBS TO HOOK UP WITH THE WOODMEN

Cheek's Cubs and the Woodmen will hook up in a diamond engagement at 12:30 o'clock on Cheek's grounds, Sunday morning. Moltoza, Vaigus and Moltoza will conduct the battery work for the Cubs. Bill Malonev has returned and will probably be seen in action with the Cubs. Bill is slinging sacks of flour over at the Pulse Bros. grocery and is in good trim to slam out some home runs.

The Big Store

Just a week old—but a lusty growing youngster, going to grow with Richmond and be a credit to the city

Every housewife knows how hard it is to get settled and get your house in running order; It's just the same with a store—we might not have everything now, but we will have it, give us time
Meanwhile we'll give you bargains to show what the Big Store is going to do!

1000 pairs of military shoes for girls and women from the stocks of C. H. BAKER, of San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland in a big sale tomorrow at 19c above factory cost

Why it wouldn't pay the parcel post charges!

And this is the story: Mr. C. H. Baker found himself overstocked with certain types and kinds of shoes. He doesn't hold sales in busy season only twice a year, and not wishing to carry these shoes over, and not wishing to sell them to merchants in his own city, he has requested us to dispose of all or a portion of these shoes for him in Richmond. These shoes do not belong to us, they are Mr. Baker's property, and we are merely acting as his agents in disposing of them.

The first thousand pair are here and will be placed on sale
Saturday morning at nine o'clock at $2.69 two dollars and sixty-nine cents pair

Any one who knows shoes, knows what wonderful shoes these are when we tell you they were made by Thomas G. Plant Company of Boston, one of the foremost shoe manufacturers of the world. And the materials are those modish dull French kid, and shiny patent colt, and fine kid skins.

The models, the new high cut military boots, of laced pattern. Also the extreme button shoes in styles so well suited to the short flaring skirts. A dozen different styles, every one we've illustrated and more. In all sizes from 1 to 8. All widths from A to double E.

Richmond's first great mill loom-end sale of Wash Goods at 9c yard

Here they are just as they left the mill in Providence, Rhode Island, freshly folded and as perfect and clean as if they had just been ironed. Mill ends are the lengths left on the looms after the bolts have been cut, and these are mill ends from some very lovely materials. While the merchants call these short lengths, they're plenty long enough for your needs. There are silk-finished poplins, nub poplins, 32 inch ginghams in a wonderful lot of plaids and dress patterns, apron ginghams, too, splendid percales in a lot of stripes and fine figures, crepe striped stuffs, romper cloths, delicate waisting, organdies, lawns and cross bars. There are some fascinating Japanese kimono crepes and ever so many pretty dress stuffs. But the great good news about them is that they're 9c a yard. Think of it! Why cheap stuffs would cost you as much if it were not for this splendid purchase of ours. We expect a big crowd so will have them out on tables all through the center of the BIG STORE. See them in the windows, see them on the tables. Pick and choose at will. They're wonderful for 9c and well you'll know it the minute you lay eyes on them. But come early.

Bungalow Sets, Aprons and Housedresses, special

And think the sets give a winsome cap, a skirt and a coatee to match of splendid percale. The dresses are the double interchangeable front kind that give twice the service for one laundering. The aprons are the coverall kind which are almost a dress in themselves. This is a special sale. 95c

Lacy Lingerie and color striped Tub Waists

Oh, the voiles are the daintiest, sheerest things and the embroidery stands out so charmingly on them. They're lace trimmed too and there are other fancy lawns and white stuffs. Lace and color striped novelty shirtings make some very stylish waists, and the tailored waists are wonderful for the money. 95c

Little Dutch Rompers for Kiddies, special

Little wrinkle crepes that need no ironing, percales, ginghams, chambrays, cut full and cunning; for really these are the cutest thing the toddler can wear. There are checks and stripes, and plain colors in light and dark blues and pinks and tans, finished with edgings and belts and buttons. 48c
